Alarm Out For Veteran "Romeo" Widow-Swindler

CHICAGO, June 20—(INS)—A 48-state alarm for a 73-year-old notorious "love pirate" was intensified today with his identification through a photograph by two teen age daughters of a missing Chicago widow.

He is Sigmund Z. Engel, known a quarter of a century ago in vaudeville as Sigmund Rennee, adept at charming rich, lonely and trustful women by posing as movie producer, banker and even Lord Beaverbrook of England.

Police described the elderly man as a "matrimonial swindler deluxe" and said his suave romantic ways aided him for more than 25 years in duping countless women into marriage and swindling them of inheritances, jewels and furs.

Swindled Mother

The two daughters of Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, missing Chicago widow, identified Engel through a Milwaukee police photograph. They said the dapper romeo swindled their mother of $5,000 on promises of marriage.

Engel was identified by the two sisters, Reseda, 19, and Orpha, 17, from a photograph transmitted over International News sound photos from The Milwaukee Sentinel to The Chicago Herald-American.

Milwaukee police records listed the confidence man as having used 28 aliases.

New York authorities reported that Engel arrived in Manhattan last June 6, the day after he fled Chicago, and began to court Mrs. Pauline Langton, New York divorcee.

He wooed her and dined her for a weekend then flew with her to Arlington, Va., last Tuesday where they were married.

The self-styled movie magnate, posing as Carl Laemmle Jr., obtained some $14,500 in jewels from Mrs. Langton last Friday and disappeared while allegedly taking them to an insurance broker.

He had a police record in Berlin and Vienna before coming to the United States where his record began in 1917.

TWO SURVEYS SEE 5 MILLION JOBLESS

But Disagree On What May Be Expected After AFL Optimistic

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—Two national surveys agree the nation soon may have 5,000,000 or more jobless, but they disagree on what happens next.

The Public Affairs Institute warned, "nothing in sight indicates a halt in unemployment trends."

The American Federation of Labor declared, "a serious business recession is almost impossible."

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), also in a weekend statement, said the situation is confused and congress will study it.

The public affairs institute predicted 8,000,000 workers will be out of jobs a year from now unless the federal government steps in to give business a boost.

May Hit Six Million

Unemployment may hit 6,000,000 by the end of this year, the institute added.

The institute recommended tax cuts for the low and middle income brackets, emergency public works in hard-hit areas, revival of the civilian conservation corps and other federal actions to reassure and stimulate business.

"Unemployment has passed the 'spot' stage," the institute said. "It is not a local, but a national problem."

The AFL looked over the economic outlook in its magazine, "Labor's Monthly Survey," and found the prospect good. It acknowledged there are some dangers, however, and said policies of unions, management and the government right now are "all important."

It said wages should keep moving upward to increase consumer buying, but suggested increases be based on increases in productivity. It urged unions to cooperate with management in cutting out waste and bringing down expenses.

The AFL warned this is not time for government, management, or unions to start any tinkering that might bring on inflation again.

Hope For Showers To Break Heat

Urban and rural residents alike hoped for showers today to bring relief from the sweltering heat.

Parched crops and dry pastures would benefit from a steady downpour, but the weatherman predicts only possible scattered showers.

Rainfall has been reported all around Salem within the past week but gardens and lawns attest to the fact that this region has been by-passed by Jupiter Pluvius.

Humid weather Sunday drove thousands to nearby lakes and parks for relief. Although it seemed hotter, the official weather records at the city sewage treatment plant showed a high of 87 for yesterday. The low was 66 last night.

Slight precipitation this month, on two days, totaled only a half-inch.

8 Hurt, 2 Seriously In Road Mishaps

Eight persons were injured, two seriously, in five auto accidents on the district highways over the weekend, the Salem state highway patrol reported.

In one of the oddest accidents within memory, Samuel F. Slack, 63, of Canton suffered a fractured skull and was taken to Alliance City hospital. He was in the act of giving a motorist a helping hand.

Arthur L. Fitzgerald, 25, of Canton, ran out of gas on Route 62, 1.5 miles west of the junction of Route 173 at about 6:45 p. m. Sunday.

After getting some gas and pouring it into the tank, he found the car would not start and so got the aid of another driver to push his car. Slack stood on the bumpers of the two cars to keep them even while being pushed. As the motor started, Fitzgerald started away and the driver of the pushing car slammed on his brakes.

Slack was flipped into the air and fell to the pavement.

Headon Collision

Cars operated by Walter T. Canterbury, 26, of East Palestine and Albert Green, 26, of East Palestine collided on Route 165, near Route 14, at 12:55 a. m. today.

The Canterbury car was on the wrong side of the road, the patrol said, and the two hit almost headon. Green suffered lacerations of the left arm.

Both cars were badly damaged. Canterbury was arrested for having no driver's license.

Cyclist Injured

Jerry Cullivan, 10, of North Benton was brought to Salem City hospital Saturday afternoon, suffering from a possible fractured left leg, possible concussion, bruises and abrasions, sustained when he was struck by a car, while riding a bicycle.

The mishap occurred at 4:20 p. m. Saturday on Route 14, 0.2 mile south of the Mahoning-Portage county line. The car was operated by Cloyd B. Cree, 27, of Kent.

Cree told the patrol that both he and the boys were moving in Turn to 8 HURT, Page 3

MINERS BACK, CRISIS NEAR

Strike May Be Result If John L. Can't Make Suitable Terms

PITTSBURGH, June 20—(AP)—John L. Lewis' nearly half-million United Mine Workers trooped back to the pits today as the UMW's contract negotiations neared the showdown stage.

Just as UMW district leaders predicted, the week-long "stabilization" walkout ordered by Lewis ended on schedule. The few mines operating midnight shifts reported full-scale production underway.

The 480,000 UMW members can use the money they earn this week. On Saturday they quit work again—this time for their 10-day paid vacation. But the loss of last week's wages offset to a considerable degree the $100 each of them will receive for their vacation.

The miners, too, aren't sure just when they'll return to work after the end of their vacations. That's because the current UMW contracts run out June 30.

May Be Strike

If Lewis and the operators can't come to terms it's a foregone conclusion there will be a strike. The bushy-browed leader long has adhered to a "no contract, no work policy."

Last week's walkout didn't hurt the nation's economy. Despite the fact it was the second walkout of the year for the UMW—in March Lewis ordered a two-week shutdown—there's more coal above ground than ever before. Sources close to the industry say it's enough to keep industrial production humming for 60 to 80 days.

About the only persons, outside of the miners themselves, who suffered from the walkouts were employees of coal-hauling railroads. Last week some 30,000 railroaders were furloughed. The railroads said some would have been furloughed anyway because of a business slump.

As Lewis and his strategists prepared to meet with three separate groups of operators this week, the operators hadn't yet been told just what Lewis wants in his new contract. Miners now are paid an average $14.05 daily.

AGREEMENT DUE ON BERLIN TIEUP

PARIS, June 20—(AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers are expected to announce today an agreement to bring peace to strife-torn Berlin—Europe's No. 1 trouble spot.

Authoritative sources said agreement was reached yesterday on a "live and let live" pact and also on instructions to the ministers' deputies to write an independence treaty for Austria.

The agreement on Berlin and on resumption of east-west trade in Germany is expected to ease international tension. It is understood that in return for the west's reopening of trade with the east, Russia will issue a statement guaranteeing the west free access to Berlin, preventing another blockade of the city.

Big Four experts reached speedy agreement on a communique to be released later today announcing terms of the accord between the east and west.

An American spokesman said the agreement is complete "except for a couple of drafting points on Germany and Austria." He added "there is no disagreement on the principle" of the communique.

The ministers will hold a secret afternoon meeting and then issue the communique at a later open session.

$3,341 IN FUND FOR DONNA MARIE

The Donna Saunders fund total soared above $3,000 over the weekend, as several contributions were received. The amount now stands at $3,341.

The Salem Amvets reported over $400 taken in their coin jars, with several still to be picked up. The post concluded its drive with more than $1,400 collected in house-to-house canvassing and the coin jars.

A house-to-house campaign was conducted for the little accident victim in East Palestine last week by the Daisy Petal Theta Rho Girls club, No. 29, I.O.O.F. Miss Thelma J. Jenkins, advisor, and 12 members toured the town in two days and turned in $224. Mayor Walter Hunston gave the project his endorsement.

Other contributions received last week were from the following:

Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employees, Copperweld Steel employees of Warren, the Farm Women's club, Robertsville Girl Scouts, Unity Bible class of the Methodist church, Salem V.F.W. post, Butler grange, Industrial Puellae 4-H club, Salem Leul society and the Highland Christian church.

The drive sponsors, Amvets and Salem Jaycees, hope to top the $3,500 mark this week.

Meanwhile, the condition of the seven-year-old Donna remains the same. She has been unconscious since a truck hit her Sept. 9, 1902.

A few months after her husband's death, Mrs. Curtis was speaker at a Columbus missionary conference. Following the conference the post of foreign branch organizer was created, to which Mrs. Curtis was named. Her duties included the founding of new auxiliaries, installing Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis, 85, retired Methodist missionary of national prominence, who died of a cerebral hemorrhage Saturday morning at her home in Zephyrhills, Fla., will be held in Salem Thursday afternoon. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Place of the funeral will be announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Curtis, who observed her 85th birthday June 8, was stricken the following day with the illness which caused her death.

Born in Cadiz, June 8, 1864, she was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph M. Carr, the former a Methodist minister.

Mount Union Graduate

She was graduated from Steubenville High school and Mt. Union college, Alliance, before her colorful career as a missionary, lecturer and author.

Her family is widely known in this district, due to the fact that her father served as pastor of the Methodist churches in Salem, Leetonia and Columbiana, at various periods.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Helen Jackson Berg, with whom she resided, and Mrs. E. L. McMillen of Pittsburgh, and one brother, Frank I. Carr, of Youngstown.

For some years she shared a country home on the Damascus rd. with a bachelor brother and spent her winters at Zephyrhills.

A former missionary in Malaya, the tropical, verdant land between India and China, she was the wife of the late Rev. Wesley E. Curtis, a missionary teacher born near Marietta. Theirs was a college romance, which culminated in a wedding in the land famous in legend, poetry and song. The ceremony was performed in a little chapel in the mission school in Penang.

A woman pioneer in the foreign mission field of the Methodist church, founder of a girls school which dedicated a hall in tribute to her work, she was an inspiration to women of many nations who desired to give their lives to the betterment of others.

Husband Died In 1902

For five years, Mrs. Curtis and her husband worked together at the Taiping mission, but before the new building there, which had been given the mission, could be opened, Rev. Curtis' health failed and they returned to America. He died on Sept. 9, 1902.

A Successful Failure

The turn of events which has made the stand-off in western relations with the Soviet union a monument to the triumph of principle over expediency has asserted itself again. The latest conference of the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia has been a disappointment to those who wanted reconciliation. There can be no reconciliation with Russia.

German peace settlements are as far away as ever, perhaps further. There is no immediate likelihood that withdrawal of western military forces will throw the German people into the waiting hands of the opportunists itching to organize them for further mischief. If the continued absence of self-rule for Germany is an evil—and it is—certainly the wrong kind of self-rule would be a greater evil.

As such things are rated under diplomatic standards, the latest conference will be called a failure. But it's a limited failure. The German people will have further opportunity to draw their conclusions about the fate that has befallen them and the fate that might befall them if they were absorbed into the Russian orbit. They will have further opportunity, which they will share with other Europeans to observe the nature of the struggle for power which was intensified by World War II. Time may do what diplomats so far have been unable to do—ordain the allegiances of confused people in a society which has been caught in the cross-fire between the reactionary doctrine of dictatorship and the liberal doctrine of human freedom.

Sickle And The Cross

A new offensive against the Catholic church has been opened by a communist government, this time in Czechoslovakia. The assumption that such moves are prompted by Marxist atheism doesn't tell the story.

Communist police action against Archbishop Josef Beran, head of Czechoslovakia's 9,000,000 Roman Catholics, looks more like an attempt to intimidate a religious leader than an attempt to undermine religion. As was evident in the case of Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary last January, the Communist politicians are chiefly interested in the churchman's political influence. They want him to use that influence on their side.

This has nothing to do with Marxist atheism. It is a projection of an arrangement in Russia that dates back to Peter the Great, who established the power of the state over the church. Thereafter, the church and its hierarchy were tools of the Czars. Politics and religion were two sides of the same thing.

The Bolsheviks "atheized" the Russian state after 1917 and set out to destroy religion in all its forms. They failed. When the counter-revolutionists came to power, they returned to the formula of Peter the Great. Once more religion became a tool of government. It owed its right to exist to the Kremlin.

If the time ever comes when religious leaders in Russia's satellites are willing to accept the Russian arrangement, there will be no more persecutions. What the Communists want is a church subservient to politicians. They regard religion as they regard everything else—something to be used for the advancement of their dictatorship.

By The Side of The Road

That ageless yearning for a "house by the side of the road where the race of men go by" is the subject of reservations in the automobile age.

The race of men go by in all manner of high-powered contraptions of various shapes and sizes—but not all of them go by. More frequently than is comfortable to think about, they lose control of the contraptions, landing in the house by the side of the road and lying there until rescue arrives.

The insurance companies make a practice of illustrating their literature about recurrent hazards with grisly photographs of what may happen to the side of the road if it gets smashed by a tractor-trailer loaded with steel, bricks, or a few thousand gallons of inflammable gasoline.

Not much less hazardous is what may happen if unexpected callers arrive in the form of a two-ton automobile loaded with speed-happy juveniles or half-paralyzed drunks traveling at 73 miles an hour. It's small comfort to know this isn't likely to happen more than once in a long lifetime (some-what often on curves) because one lifetime may be terminated abruptly if it happens at all.

Perhaps the stanza should go like this:
"Let me live in my house by the side of the road
"Where the auto drivers go by;
"They are good, they are bad, they are weak,
they are strong,
"Wise, foolish—and some die."

Mechanized Farmers

Farm operators, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, are beginning to enjoy shorter working days. Instead of sunup to sundown, the traditional stretch, the day has shrunk to 11 hours and 48 minutes for the boss farmer, 9 hours and 48 minutes for the hired help, if any.

These figures, of course, are averages. There are no starting and quitting whistles on the big, red barns. It's still true that a farmer's work is never done and it all depends on how much he decides to do each day. But machinery makes it possible for him to do so much more than used to be possible that farming has ceased to be an endless succession of back-breaking jobs.

This has come about despite a steady decline of the farm population. If it were in the same ratio as it was, say a third of a century ago—and all of it were working at farming—the country's agricultural needs could be met with as short a work week as now prevails in industrial production. As it is, a greatly reduced working population of farms, thanks to mechanization, is able to produce a surplus of agricultural commodities.

France: Closed For Repairs

Even when the Germans were running France, that proud republic was no closer to being at the end of its rope than it was Wednesday when approximately a million of its civil employes went on strike.

No official business could be transacted. Government was paralyzed. Communications were cut off. The dreaded fifth column of World War II couldn't have done a better job.

This was a demonstration by a handful of private persons that they were bigger than the republic of France. The demonstration was a huge success; it proved what has been evident in the United States to everybody but the handful which would like to stage similar demonstrations here—that a strike against the government is revolution.

For Tuesday, June 21

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

Although there may be blocks or reversals in the putting over of major objectives of large scope and enduring value, yet quick work, concentrated efforts built upon sound and far-reaching techniques, with an eye to long-term and enduring reaping rather than a current "flash in the pan" purpose may flourish. Present intensive or experimental tactics may not at first impress superiors or attract working capital. But earnest attack, supplemented by clever manipulation, eventually wins over desired aid. Do not hesitate with revolutionary ideas practically executed.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may seem at first to be blocked or opposed, finding it difficult to win the attention and concrete financial aid from those whose cooperation may be deemed indispensable. However, in the long run, industry, persistent efforts, and sound tactics in demonstrating the practicality of unique, novel or experimental ideas or techniques, will break down opposition or want of interest, thus attracting substantial promotional assistance for long-term and enduring objectives. The far vision pursued with confidence and integrity may "move mountains."

A child born on this day is endowed with exceptional talents and originality, with substantial qualities to win out against want of support, eventually establishing position and public recognition.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESON

EVERYBODY knows what cold sores are, but few realize that colds have nothing to do with bringing them about. Known by the scientific name of herpes simplex, these little clumps of blisters are due to a virus infection. On the other hand, this condition does not appear to be contagious, that is, passed about from one person to another.

People who develop cold sores seem to be subject to recurrent attacks, usually at the same place on the skin. Others never have them. In susceptible individuals, cold sores can be brought on by a good many different things. Among them are fever, injuries, exposure to ultraviolet rays, sunlight, or wind, the eating of certain foods, indigestion, and the use of certain drugs.

Form Scabs

Cold sores first start as blisters which break open and form scabs. They are most commonly located around the lips, but occasionally may develop on the cheek, back, ear, fingers or arms. Sometimes, disfiguring scars may follow attacks of herpes.

Persons with herpes should avoid over-treatment of the condition. A mild astringent or shrinking agent used on the lips and a gentian violet solution on the inner lining of the lips are usually sufficient.

Repeated vaccination with smallpox vaccine has been attempted in an effort to prevent recurrent herpes. Good results have been obtained with this method of treatment in a number of cases. The vaccine is usually given weekly for six or eight weeks.

Exposure to X-Ray
Another form of treatment to prevent recurrences has been exposure to X-ray. Such treatment seems to diminish the severity of the attacks and to lengthen the periods between recurrences. Of course, the X-ray treatments must be given by a specialist to make sure that an overdose does not occur.

The herpes virus, it is thought, may at times cause an infection of the mouth known as stomatitis.

The condition may also affect the gums, and may resemble trench mouth. The treatment of this disorder also consists of the use of a mild antiseptic painted on the affected areas. Gentian violet has been used for this purpose.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. K.: I have a very bad sinus infection with a yellow discharge from my nose. Is there something that will remedy this?

Answer: Sinus infection of the chronic type always should be treated under the direction of the physician.

Timken Employees
Told of Strike's
Threat To Work

CANTON, June 20—(AP)—
Timken Roller Bearing Co. probably will be forced to cut personnel 25 per cent in the event of a prolonged strike, says the firm's president.

In a radio address yesterday,
William E. Umstatt said may customers would go so far as to redesign their products in order to place their bearing business elsewhere if orders were delayed.

Timken currently is negotiating a new contract with the CIO
United Steelworkers of America.
The present one expires July 1.

Any company ceases to exist
the moment it loses its customers' favor, Umstatt said.

"That is why I am asking the retaliation of certain elements among us, who seem to believe otherwise, when I tell you that another prolonged strike at the Timken Roller Bearing Company will mean a more or less permanent reduction in the number of Timken employees by perhaps 25 per cent."

sibility for appointment of its personnel and the direction of their activities.

The national security council is the cabinet-rank of committee created to advise the President on defense policy. Its members include the secretaries of State,
Defense, War, Navy and Air Force and the chairman of the National Security Resources board (NSRB).

The NSRB, now headed tem-others with new life and assisting conference secretaries.

In 1913, after serving as field secretary for the Cincinnati branch of the conference she became national student secretary of the Women's Foreign Missionary society. Seven years later, in 1920, Mrs. Curtis resigned to accept the position of professor of missionary principles and practice in the department of religious education of Boston university.

She was founder of the "Sister College" movement and sponsor of a world peace contest which brought her international recognition.

The "Sister College" movement, which was adopted by leading women's universities of the country, was regarded by Mrs. Curtis as the greatest work of her life.
In addition to her many other activities, she was a writer and lecturer.

Later Taught At College

High among her other accomplishments was her efforts to arouse interest in the furtherance of international goodwill and the promotion of friendship through peace contest which she sponsored for several years.
Essays written by college girls throughout the country were awarded prizes each year by Mrs.
Curtis.

Mrs. Curtis had served as honorary president of the Mt. Union college Women's club and the American Girls club of Berlin.

She went to Berlin, Germany, in 1896, to study at the University of Berlin.

The veteran missionary, achieved special recognition in modern and ancient languages while at Mt. Union college, where she was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

For two years after completion of her studies at Mt. Union college, she taught in the Collegiate institute, Marionville, Mo., serving as dean of women.

Afterwards she was called to the chair of modern languages at Mt. Union college, which position she filled successfully for five years.

Killed By Own Car

WARREN, June 20—Patsy
Vendy, 60, of Girard, died in North Side hospital, Youngstown, of a fractured skull suffered on June 10. Dr. Michael Cristo, county coroner, said he was hurt
while cranking a Model T Ford.
The car started up and knocked him to the ground.

Reach Wisconsin
On Trip To West

By Eugene Mueller of Salem and Robert Bay of Alliance, who are motoring and hiking to Alaska.

MADISON, Wis.—We have put 610 miles behind us and so far, so good, as we slowly approach
Seattle on the initial leg of our Alaskan trek.

We spent the first night of our trans-U. S. trip out under the stars in sleeping bags at a roadside park near Warsaw, Ind. Rain starting at 2:30 a. m. forced us into the car for a cramped sleep
the remainder of the night.

At the risk of being investigated for disloyalty, we remark at the improvement in the roads after crossing the Ohio line.

Illinois will remain in our memories because of one of those
"if you didn't see it, you wouldn't believe it" experiences. As we were nearing Rockford we were attracted by numerous roadside signs calling our attention to a "free" zoo. In our weak financial state, we were anxious to take advantage of anything free.

We later welcomed the sight of clean and wholesome Wisconsin, its many cows and blondes.

The gently rolling lands are used extensively for dairy farming and the corn in some areas looks to be over a foot high; in fact it is almost twice as high as that which we saw yesterday in Ohio and Indiana.

Beverly Stowell Is Bride Of Richard T. Edgerton

Miss Beverly Stowell, one of Saturday's brides, has the distinction of being married with a wedding ring nearly 100 years old.

When her groom, Richard Triem Edgerton was asked for his token of "love and fidelity" he placed a yellow gold band, the wedding ring of his great grandmother, Mrs. Harriet Triem, on his bride's finger.

Miss Stowell chose this date for her wedding day, because it was the 39th wedding anniversary of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Goodman of Beach City.

The double ring service at 4 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church was outstanding because of its picturesque bridal party.

Rev. Harold Ogden heard the nuptial vows, witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends.

Two arrangements of multi-colored spring flowers were combined in the profusion of greenery which made the lovely setting at the chancel entrance. It was flanked with white candles in tall seven-branch candelabra tied with white ribbon bows.

While the guests were being seated, Miss Anna Cook, church organist, played "Clair de Lune," "Dreams," "To Each His Own," "Apple Blossom Wedding" and "Intermezzo."

Robert Tarzan, vocalist, sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed," just before the bride part came in, and "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar. Miss Cook accompanied him and played the traditional wedding marches.

Gowns of Dotted Swiss
The charming bride and all her attendants wore lovely gowns created of dotted swiss.

Miss Stowell's white gown was fashioned with a square neck, long full sleeves, ruffled at the wrists, fitted bodice and a tiered hoop skirt. Her finger-tip net veil fell from a small white hat. She wore a crystal necklace and earrings, gift of the groom, and carried her mother's Eastern Star Bible topped with an orchid and Stephanotis and maidenhair fern. For the traditional "something blue" she carried a blue hand-painted lace handkerchief, gift of a friend.

Mr. Stowell gave his daughter in marriage.

Ushers, Pvt. Danny Smith of Aberdeen, Md.; Morris Hollinger, James Edgerton, brother of the groom, and Thomas Grubbs, led the bridal procession.

Miss Marilyn Miller, maid of honor, was in lime green. Her gown was designed with a portrait neckline, full sleeves, tight bodice and a full skirt. She wore a picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white carnations, yellow marguerite daisies, a Madonna lily and maidenhair fern tied with varicolored ribbon.

John Pridon was best man.

The flower girl, Gloria Joyce Sterner of Navarre, cousin of the bride, was charming in a "miniature" costume almost identical to the bride's. Her colonial bouquet of blue centurea and light and medium pink carnations was tied with narrow pink ribbon. Gary Lee Smith of Massillon, another cousin of the bride, ringbearer, carried the rings on a small white dotted swiss and net pillow. They preceded the bride.

Bridesmaids were Shirley Smith, Marty Bennett of Chicago, Patricia Neely and Nancy Callahan. They were all gowned in orchid, wore matching picture hats, and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white carnations and yellow marguerite daisies tied with varicolored ribbon.

As junior bridesmaid, Freddie Lee Goodman of Beach City, the bride's cousin, was gowned like the maid of honor and her bouquet was the same.

Mrs. Stowell chose for her daughter's wedding a dusty rose lace dress and used navy accessories. Mrs. Edgerton's light blue nylon dress was complemented

Couple Surprised On 10th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Madden of W. State st. were surprised on Sunday afternoon when a group of relatives and friends met at their home to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary.

The party was arranged by Mrs. Walter Higgins of Andover, who was bridesmaid at the wedding.

The Madden's anniversary is June 24.

A picnic supper was an enjoyable feature.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Higgins and children, Karin Lee and John, of Andover; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Piekarski of Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and daughter, Dianne; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rockwell and sons, Lloyd, Jr., Larry and Kenneth; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blais, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nelson and daughter, Ingrid; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson and son, Thomas; Mrs. Marie Sullivan, Mrs. Carl A. Nelson and daughters, Shirley and Greta Ann; Richard C. Johnson and Walter Nelson of Ashtabula; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Conrad of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Larson and sons, James and Harold Arthur, and John T. Larson of Youngstown and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leone and family of Salem.

Peggy Roose Hostess At Pat Keener Shower
The bridal shower Thursday for Miss Patricia Keener added to her linen supply.

The informal party, a dessert-bridge, was held for the bride-elect in the E. State street home of Miss Peggy Roose.

Miss Keener will become the bride of Charles William Butler of Youngstown June 25.

The Roose rose garden provided flowers for the home, and a yellow and white rose arrangement lent beauty to the table where the guests were seated.

Mrs. Gail Roose, mother of the hostess, presided at the silver and crystal service, while white candles in silver lighted the scene.

Mrs. Bruce Hack of Lakewood, Miss Keener's matron of honor, was the out-of-town guest.

Robert Barton Speaker At Father-Son Dinner
Robert Barton gave an inspirational talk on "Getting Acquainted with Our Sons" at the father-son banquet sponsored by the First Friends church Friday evening in the Lape hotel.

Mr. Barton also played a piano solo, "My Buddy." He accompanied a trio composed of Mrs. Barton and her sisters, Mrs. Betty Leach and Miss Martha Hinckley, who sang "Heavenly Sunlight" and "The Rosary."

Robert Ellyson, program chairman, announced the program.

Donald Rohr paid tribute to the fathers. Russell Perrine gave the response.

Approximately 50 attended and the affair was so satisfactory that the men plan to make it an annual event.

Berlin Center Club Observes Guest Day
Mrs. Clyde Woolman of East Goshen was hostess to members of the Berlin Center Garden club Tuesday afternoon.

Guest day was observed with Mrs. J. E. Everett, Alliance speaker. Her theme was "Flower Arrangement."

The tea table, covered with a pale green cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons and yellow roses. Yellow and green tones prevailed in the appointments.

Mrs. Florence Ruggles and Mrs. Mary Woolf of Berlin Center poured. Forty-five guests were served.

The July 12 meeting will be with Mrs. Larue Stratton.

Meet On Wednesday
The annual business meeting of the Women's council of the Christian church will be held at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday at the church.

Lois Ann Smith, Barbara McArtor, Robert Zimmerman and George Huston went to Berea Sunday to spend two weeks at the band and choral clinic of Baldwin-Wallace college.

Lucy Cocca, John Davies Are Wedded

Miss Lucy Sara Cocca-graced a beautiful bridal procession when she was married to John David Davies Saturday morning in St. Paul's Catholic church.

Her bridal costume was fashioned of traditional white slipper satin along classically simple lines. The sweetheart neckline was edged with net. The slim basque bodice was unadorned, except for a single strand of pearls she wore around her neck.

The skirt was softly pleated all around, set on bias, dipped to a point front and back, and the fullness fell into a circular train.

She wore an English type half-veil of sheer imported illusion edged with a deep row of applied Alencon lace, attached to a seed pearl tiara.

For the processional, the bride carried an arm bouquet of white roses tied with wide white ribbon. In the recessional she carried a white prayer book topped with a gardenia corsage and Stephanotis.

Miss Loretta Cocca was her sister's maid of honor. Her lovely gown of lilac moire taffeta was styled with a square neckline, fitted bodice and a full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses tied with wide yellow ribbon.

Senior Bridesmaids
Senior bridesmaids were Misses Sara Cocca, Mary Jane and Connie Petrucci of Salem and Miss Helen Binarchik of Youngstown. Their attractive pale green gowns were designed identically with illusion necklines, long pointed collars, tight bodices and hoop skirts, caught up in the front in two places, with a rim of lace on the bottom. They carried arm bouquets of yellow roses tied with matching ribbon.

Junior bridesmaids, Jeanee and Donna Cocca wore yellow gowns made like the senior bridesmaids. Their bouquets of pink roses were tied with matching ribbon.

Phyllis Jean Zammarelli, flower girl, wore a lilac moire taffeta formal like the maid of honor's. She carried a fan basket of flowers.

Anthony Petrucci, ring bearer, wore black trousers and a white dinner coat.

Michael J. Mulheran of Salineville was the best man.

Andy Zammarelli, Paul Campanelli, Andy Parolantieri and Robert Wilkinson seated the large company of guests. All the men in the party wore white dinner coats.

Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney was celebrant for the high nuptial mass.

Miss Sarah Colman, organist, played Kullak wedding march for the processional; sang "Ave Maria" for the offertory and also sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" for the recessional.

The altar, lighted by white candles in brass holders was artistically arranged with greenery and flowers.

Mrs. Parolantieri, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Davies, the groom's mother, were both attired in pink and wore corsages of yellow roses.

Dinner, Dance Held
The Italian hall was resplendent with pastel shades for the wedding dinner at 2 and the reception-dance from 7 p. m. to 10. A tiered wedding cake was served.

Chuck Wurster's orchestra furnished music.

Some of the guests were from Salem, Massontown, Pa., Columbus and Pittsburgh.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Parolantieri of E. Fifth st. A graduate of the Salem High school and Ohio State university, she is employed as a secretary by the Columbus Colonial Finance Co.

Mr. Davies, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davies of Lisbon, graduated from the Lisbon High school and is a senior at Ohio State university. During the war he served three years as a lieutenant in the Air Force.

When the bride left on her wedding trip she was wearing navy and melon two-piece dress and a gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies will reside at 124 W. Oakland ave., Columbus.

Mrs. Delbert Fowler Hostess To Club

Noname club members played "500" Friday evening at their party in the home of Mrs. Delbert Fowler on Madison ave.

Mrs. C. R. Wooley, a guest from Damascus, and Mrs. Bruce Krepps won the prizes. The traveling award went to Mrs. Robert Brudery.

Arrangements of roses formed the centerpieces at the card-tables where Mrs. Fowler served refreshments.

The July 15 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Glenn Whitacre on the Lisbon rd. with Mrs. Ben Ware as hostess.

Miss Mawhinney Feted At Party

Miss Florence Mawhinney was honored at a delightful smorgas-board luncheon given by Miss Anne Winder, Saturday, at her home, Highland ave.

Miss Mawhinney, sophomore at Smith college, will leave Saturday from Quebec, Canada, for France to spend the summer.

The honor guest was presented a leather diary autographed by the 20 guests.

Those from out of town were: Miss Joanne Sidener of Canton; Miss Minnie Kendall of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Bruce Hack of Lakewood and Mrs. Thomas Moore of Xenia.

Keen Teen Club Is Entertained

Margaret Ann Lipstreu was a guest of Keen Teen club members who met Thursday at the home of Jeri Hagan on Woodland ave.

Secret pal names were exchanged and Marjorie Umstead, president, discussed constitution changes.

Refreshment were served by Jeri and her mother, Mrs. Thomas Hagan.

Officers will be elected at the meeting July 1 in the W. 10th st. home of Ann Montgomery.

Joseph W. Bryan, who spent 15 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bryan of R. D. 3, Salem, has returned to the U. S. Navy yards in Philadelphia. Mr. Bryan, who was overseas five months, is aboard the SSEE Larson DDR 830. He has spent two years in the Navy.

Mrs. Karl Bonfert and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bonfert of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fleisher of Cleveland left, Saturday evening on a motor trip to California. They plan to spend a month with relatives there.

Mrs. J. B. Dodd of Seward, Pa., is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. L. Ogden of St. Louis, who is spending this month in the Cleveland st. home of her son, Rev. Harold L. Ogden, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coffee of Columbus spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. White. Wesley remained with their grandparents for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sayre of Orlando, Fla., have returned Saturday morning from a trip to Honolulu, and will spend the summer here. They are residing on E. State st.

Mrs. Minnie Freed of E. Fourth st., who has been ill, has gone to the home of her niece, Mrs. Hattie Morris, Leetonia rd.

Install Parking Meters In Columbiana This Week

COLUMBIANA, June 20—Work of installing parking meters in Columbiana began today when Joseph H. Snyder, local contractor, commenced setting the posts. L. C. Skinner, engineer of the Hale-McGee Parkmeter Co. of Oklahoma City, will return early this week to superintend the work of installation.

About 110 meters will be installed with a view of adding to the metered area as conditions warrant. The meters will be paid for from the receipts, which are expected to cancel the debt within nine months.

The Rotary club will hear reports this evening from members who attended the international convention in New York last week. William Knuth, president-elect, and Allan White, vice president-elect, will make the principal reports. Other members of the club who attended the convention were Dr. Thomas A. King, president, and C. F. Moser, Dick Fitzpatrick and Evan Roller.

Members of the Kiwanis club will go to Firestone park for recreation after their dinner meetings Monday evening the rest of the summer, having decided to disperse with programs during the hot season.

K. W. Ferrall is enlarging his pattern works on E. Railroad st. with an addition 38x46 feet, which will nearly double the floor space. The work is expected to be completed within a few months.

Fairfield Banquet
The Alumni Association of Fairfield Centralized High school will have a banquet at the school next Saturday evening, June 25. There will be round and square dancing. Although the association has held annual meetings, this will be the first banquet since the war.

The Faith, Hope and Charity class of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church will meet at the home of Mrs. Wayne Rupert, New Waterford, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Edward Muntean will be associate hostess.

About 100 delegates from the 28 churches of the Akron and Youngstown areas of the Evangelical and Reformed church attended the annual inspirational Akron regional conference of the Girls' Guild in Grace church here yesterday.

Mrs. Leon Seidel of Akron, president of the Akron regional women's guild, and Mrs. Allen Nace of Cleveland, chairman of the Northeast Ohio Synodical Girls' guild, were the principal speakers. Mrs. Waldo J. Bartels, wife of the pastor of Grace church, chairman of the Akron regional Girls' guild, led a panel discussion.

The meeting concluded with supper at the church, which ended with a candle-lighting service.

Meeting Tuesday Evening
Rev. Dr. E. Guy Cutshall, representing the National Temperance Movement, with headquarters in Chicago, will address a community meeting in Grace Evangelical and Reformed church Tuesday evening at 8. The meeting is sponsored by the Columbiana Ministerial association.

Dr. Cutshall will touch on the liquor problem only in an incidental way, as his address will have to do with home life and social conditions in the United States.

The Akron regional meeting of the Girls' guild of the Evangelical and Reformed church was held in Grace church here, Sunday. Twenty-eight churches in the Akron and Youngstown areas are included. Mrs. W. J. Bartels, wife of the pastor of Grace church, was in charge of reservations. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ferguson of Columbiana announce the recent marriage of their son, Robert, and Miss Kathryn Poth of Massillon.

H. B. Miller of Columbiana, who is filling the unexpired term of the late Isaiah Mowen as township trustee, and E. B. McCammon of Columbiana, R. D., have filed for re-election as trustees of Fairfield township at the November election.

GRANGES

Goshen
At the Goshen grange meeting Friday evening at the grange hall, fathers were honored when they were seated at a special table for lunch.

Favors and candy for the fathers were prepared by juvenile members. Presenting selections on the program were the English Lutheran Junior choir of Salem. Thomas Hutson, director, sang "The Lord's Prayer." Jean Stille and Mrs. Wade Shaefer also were heard.

Plans for remodeling the grange hall will be prepared by a committee appointed at the meeting. In the group are Ray Beck, Harvey Bates, Edward Miller, Mrs. John Vincent and Mrs. Lester Burton.

Members made plans to attend the Mahoning county grange banquet which is set for 7 p. m. Wednesday at Beloit High school. Two members were welcomed into the grange during the business session.

WINONA

Mezaph class of the Methodist church will hold a dinner this evening at Butler grange hall.

Entertainment is in charge of the men of the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Johnson and Dickie spent a week's vacation hunting and fishing in Ontario, Canada.

"DAHLIA" VICTIM—The mutilated body of Mrs. Louise Springer, 35, above, was found in her car on a Los Angeles parking lot a short distance from the scene of the famous "Black Dahlia" murder of two years ago. Here is the ninth such sex-slaying in 29 months in the Los Angeles area. Mrs. Springer is seen in a recent snapshot with her son Larry, 18 months old.

Librarians Attend Supper Given Here

Medical record librarians, Mrs. Helen Eberwein of Salem City hospital, and Miss Louise Zeck, of the Central Clinic hospital, were hostesses Thursday afternoon to 29 members of the Cleveland chapter of the Ohio State association of medical record librarians.

The buffet supper affair was held in the Nurses home on E. State st. The garden of Dr. F. R. Crowgey supplied the roses which were used throughout the home and in the table centerpiece.

Mrs. G. T. Harding, a member of the Salem Garden club, arranged them.

A silver bowl held yellow and red roses and the lighted white candles were in silver candlesticks on the linen-covered buffet table.

The Cleveland chapter is a part of the state and national American association of medical record librarians, with members present from Akron, East Liverpool, Cleveland and Salem. The profession is a specialized one, with qualifying members from this area belonging to the Cleveland organization.

Miss Eleanor Rogers of Cleveland St. Luke's hospital is president of that chapter.

Of interest to Salem people is the fact that Miss Martha Bailer of Chicago, who instituted the first medical record library at Salem City hospital, and served there for some time, is now the executive secretary of the American association which was organized in 1928. Miss Bailer has charge of the annual national convention scheduled for Sept. 26 in Cleveland.

The meetings of the Cleveland chapter are held bi-monthly on the third Thursday. The Bayview hospital librarian, Bay Village, will be hostess at the next meeting.

On College Board

ALLIANCE, June 20—The Ohio conference of the Methodist church has appointed a Mount Union college alumnus to a three-year term as a member of the college board of trustees, Mount Union officials announced today.

Rev. J. R. Cheney, minister of the Monroe Methodist church of Toledo, is the new trustee, replacing Rev. Arthur Milne of Columbus. Rev. Cheney holds the degree of bachelor of arts and doctor of divinity from Mount Union, having graduated in 1921.

TO TIMKEN'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY OPEN HOUSE CELEBRATION!

Promptly at 9 o'clock this morning the main gates of our Dueber Avenue plant swung open to admit the first arrivals. Were you among them?

Today and every day this week until 7 P.M. Friday, we expect to entertain record crowds of men, women and children in our plants at Canton and Gambrinus. It's a great occasion for all of us; let's all celebrate it together.

Because we are throwing every department of the plant open for inspection, visitors will see more than ever before. If you want to spend part of your time in some one particular department, you can do so. Just ask your guide.

How To Get In To The Open House

Take a Dueber Avenue bus or drive out to the main gate of our plant at Dueber Avenue and 17th Street, S.W. Plenty of parking space has been provided for those who drive.

Present yourself at the gate and you will be assigned to one of the groups for the plant tour. When you come out of the plant at the Harrison Avenue exit, Greyhound buses will be waiting to take you and the other visitors to Gambrinus for the tour of the Gambrinus plants, the antique automobile show and the hobbies exhibit.

Afterwards the buses will take everyone back to Dueber Avenue where you can pick up your car or take a city bus back to town.

Refreshments will be provided at Canton and Gambrinus. Convenient rest stops have been arranged in all plants.

Public Demands Modern Designs For New Homes

Public demand for contemporary style new homes is increasing, reports the National Association of Home Builders.

The association bases its belief on a coast-to-coast survey by its technical services department, which keeps up with the latest wrinkles in home building.

Carl G. Lans, department director, believes the new taste displayed by home buyers can be attributed in large part to the magazines they read and the interest of builders in newer type homes. Publications in the shelter group—magazines devoted to home development—he maintains, have stimulated interest in new design for homes. As a result he says, home builders have been able to bring contemporary designing down within the price reach of most families considering a new house.

Simplicity Is Keynote
The principal features of contemporary architecture, Lans reports, after studying homes across the country, are open planning, giving more free floor area and more windows, and an outlook toward the garden. Simplicity and economy of line are a keynote in this type of house design.

"Movement of contemporary styling into the low-cost field has been sparked by home builders willing to explore public acceptance," Lans says.

"In several sections of the nation, notably where climate conditions favor lighter construction, these builders have opened new paths with the help of progressive financing agencies. Pilot models of the new houses have helped these builders show that this field is popular with the public."

Is Not Modernistic
Up to this time, Lans added, many institutions have been reluctant to accept this type of house for financing. However, when they have seen the ready acceptance with which the public has greeted them, they have furnished the necessary financing assistance.

The association pointed out that contemporary design does not necessarily mean modernistic architecture.

AREA BUILDING CONTRACTS RISE DURING APRIL

Volume For First Four Months Up Despite Home Decline

CLEVELAND — Building and heavy construction contracts awarded in northern and eastern Ohio in April strengthened trends toward increased nonresidential building apparent in the first quarter, with a tendency toward declining residential volume, an analysis prepared by F. W. Dodge Corp. and released by Carl S. Bennett, regional vice president, reveals.

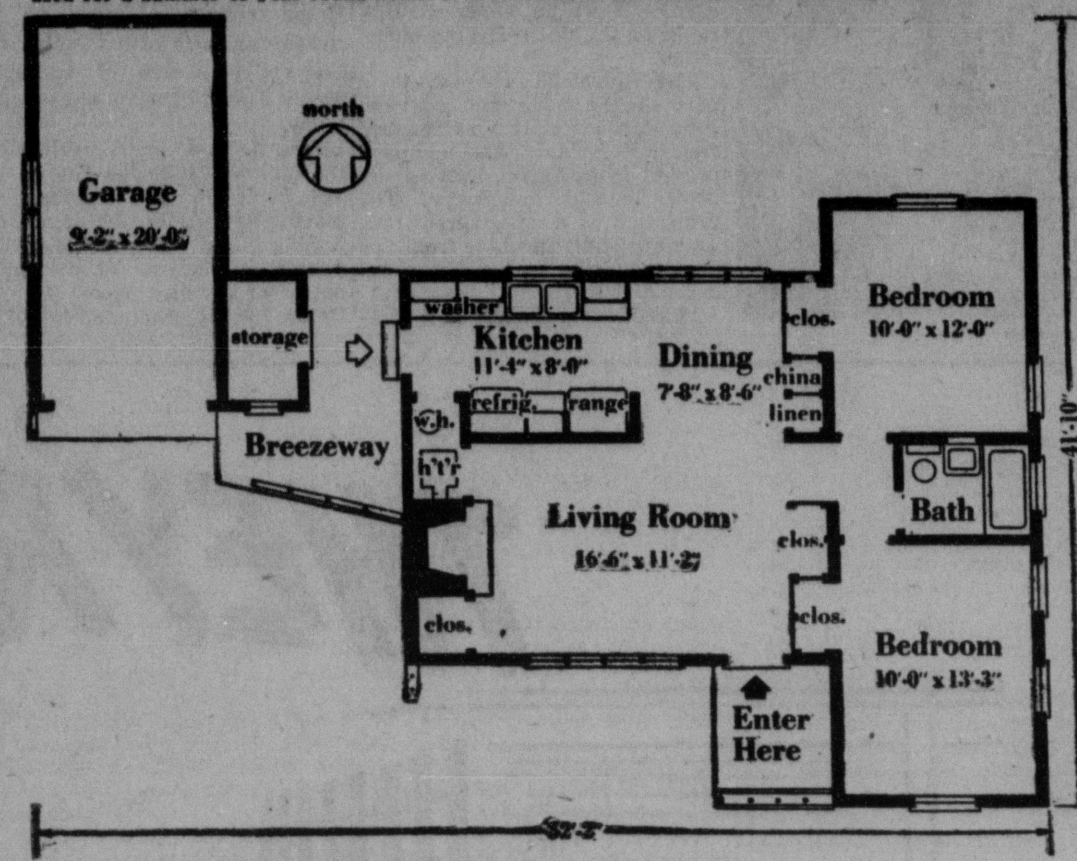

The 15-percent gain in contract volume in the first four months in this area has been brought about by substantial gains in public-account work. The over-all total of contracts was $137,356,000. This reflects a 69-percent increase in public-account work to a total of $44,837,000 and a decline of less than 1 percent in private-account contracts totaling $92,519,000.

SIMPLICITY CUTS THE COSTS IN NEW MODEL HOME

SOUND SIMPLICITY at rock-bottom cost is the keynote of this new model home recently opened by the Montauk Beach Company, Inc., on Long Island, N. Y. Designed after the suggestions of Douglas Tuomey, building consultant for Good Housekeeping magazine, the architect kept expenses down by: (1) Elimination of basement; (2) Simple frame and roof; (3) Dry Wall construction; (4) Simplified windows and trim; (5) Use of closets for partitions. Although the house embodies the latest principles and advancements in moderate-priced design and construction, it's so simple to build that the toolwielding amateur can do much of the work. The Montauk House lends itself to any seashore terrain and can be used for a summer or year round home. It is featured in the June issue of the magazine.

Housing Items Accent Durability And Safety In Building Progress

Everyone is well aware of the tremendous developments during the last few decades in automobiles, airplanes, electrical appliances, radios and many other products which provide modern comforts and conveniences. Less dramatic and therefore somewhat overlooked, however, are the vast improvements in one of the nation's most essential industries—building materials manufacturing.

Over the past 40 years various producers have spent millions of dollars annually to perfect new materials as well as to improve existing ones. As a result, the home builder of today has a choice of numerous products which afford safer, better construction and far more comfortable living than did the materials available to his father and grandfather.

One of the notable advances has been the introduction of economical, fireproof building materials made of asbestos fibers and portland cement, two of nature's most durable substances. Development of asbestos cement building products, which last indefinitely, stemmed from the search for a new type of roofing material which would be strong, permanent and fireproof, yet light in weight. The method for combining asbestos fibers with portland cement, discovered around the turn of the century, solved the problem.

Another major development has been in the field of insulation. Thirty-five years ago the insulated home was a rarity. Today insulation is accepted as practically standard equipment in well-built dwellings and other structures. By keeping buildings warmer in winter and cooler in summer, insulation cuts fuel costs substantially and provides greater year 'round comfort.

Thanks to research, there are a number of effective insulating materials. They are available in various forms—as rigid sheets, blankets, batts and as loose granules. The rigid type, known as insulating board is made of wood, cane and other vegetable fibers. It serves both as a structural material and as insulation.

A variety of acoustical materials can be obtained to reduce sound transmission within homes, offices, studios and the like. Great progress has been made in development of light-weight metals for various building and equipment uses. Advances in heating and air condition have been tremendous. Automatic, labor-saving controls are the order of the day. The old, hand-fired furnace is on its way out.

DDT IS SAFE TO USE IN GARDEN

These are the common insects for which some other insecticide than D.D.T. should be used by the amateur: 1, Mexican bean beetle; 2, tomato horn worm; 3, used aphid; 4, cucumber beetle.

Restrictions which have been placed upon the use of D.D.T. in spraying dairy and beef cattle, dairy barns and forage crops, need not interfere with the use of this postwar insecticide on home garden flowers and vegetable crops.

There is no evidence that D.D.T. used on garden plants is absorbed by their tissues. It does leave a surface residue, which should be carefully washed off, if the edible parts of plants have been sprayed or dusted within a month prior to harvest.

D.D.T. in the form of dust, or as a wettable powder, which is mixed with water for spraying, offers no danger to the user. But residues which might remain on the edible parts of vegetables when they are harvested should be removed.

The precautions are almost exactly the same as those required when an arsenic insecticide is used.

It is better not to use D.D.T. on leaf crops, such as lettuce, endive, collards, spinach, New Zealand spinach, Swiss chard and mustard greens, but amateurs seldom spray or dust them anyway. They should be washed carefully, as should all other vegetables, before using, whether sprayed or not.

All root crops may be sprayed or dusted without precautions, since the edible parts are underground and cannot harbor any

D.D.T. residue. But if the tops of beets and turnips are to be eaten, then use the same precautions with them as with other greens.

Mexican bean beetles, tomato horn worm and most aphids are immune to D.D.T.

To take care of these exceptions, rotenone will serve. It destroys the Mexican bean beetle, hornworm and is deadly to aphids.

Beans may be dusted or sprayed with D.D.T. until the pods set, without precautions. Where leaf hoppers are prevalent, D.D.T. does the best job of killing them.

If D.D.T. or arsenic should be used after the pods set, wash the pods. Tomatoes, egg plant and peppers may be sprayed or dusted, and the residue can be washed or wiped off the fruits' skin.

Cucumbers, melons and squash may be injured by D.D.T., so it is advisable to use other means to kill the cucumber beetles, which attack all these, and squash bugs, which concentrate on squash plants.

Some gardeners report good results against the cucumber beetle and squash borer by covering the soil near the base of the plant with D.D.T. dust. The insects frequently walk on the soil, and any contact with D.D.T. will be fatal to them.

No special precautions are required when using D.D.T. on flowers, shrubs and trees.

COMMON HOME-BUILDING MISTAKES ARE LISTED BY NOTED ARCHITECT

By PAUL H. HAAGEN

Why is it that so many small houses just miss being adequate and comfortable? Common mistakes are found in numbers of houses that might have been avoided by careful consideration before building.

One of the first things to do when you think of a new house is to make a list of do's and don't's, things you need and the luxuries you would like, and then try and get as many as possible of things you would like placed in the home. In this way many of the errors of home building may be avoided. Here are a few pointers on common mistakes:

First, the plan of a house should be arranged so that the daily living routine functions perfectly. The plan should be arranged so that all of the comforts and conveniences are included, with practical arrangement, ease and economy of operation.

There should be good construction, cross ventilation and plenty of daylight in every room. Location of the garage is important. It should be placed where it will be the least noticeable and yet with ease of access to the house.

The kitchen layout is vital also. Have plenty of working counters adequate cupboards. The living quarters—that is the living room, dining room and kitchen—are better when well separated from the bedrooms.

The rooms should be laid out so that there is ample wall space against which the furniture may be placed. Provide plenty of base plugs and switches for lighting the home.

From the questionnaire re-

This Floor's Okay for Indoor Play

The most important part of a room, from the child's eye level, is the floor. When weather forbids outdoor activity, just roll up the rug and you have an indoor play area. The smooth, level surface of hardwood is ideal for railroading and other small fry pastimes. It's just the thing, too, when 'teen agers feel the dancing urge. Modern floors of oak and other hardwoods are remarkably durable and resistant to wear, so let the family enjoy them to the fullest. A daily going over with an untreated dust mop and an occasional waxing and polishing are all that are needed to maintain their gleaming beauty.

cently sent to hundreds of home owners, the following items were listed as being lacking or needed in their homes:

There were not enough closets. Two baths were needed or at least a shower and toilet on the first floor in addition to the second floor complete bath. Inadequate heating equipment; drafty houses, probably due to bad or no insulation. Dark halls, wet basements, inconvenient kitchens, not enough electric light outlets, not enough porch space, and too many steps for the housewife in carrying on the daily routine of housekeeping.

To list all of the points that might be overlooked when building is obviously impossible, but be sure to check against the items here listed. It may save you much trouble later on.

Use Furnace Blower For Summer Cooling

Owners of warm air winter air conditioning systems can use these systems to help in keeping their homes cool during the hot summer months, advises the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning association. A warm air winter conditioning system is a heating system which is equipped with a blower for forcing the air through ducts into the various rooms of the house.

If you own this type of system, here's how to cool your home when the mercury soars: Open the basement windows at night in order to allow the basement to become filled with cool, fresh air. Of course, basement windows should be screened to keep out flies and rodents. Take off the access door to the filter cabinet section of the blower unit on the furnace. Then, turn the blower on.

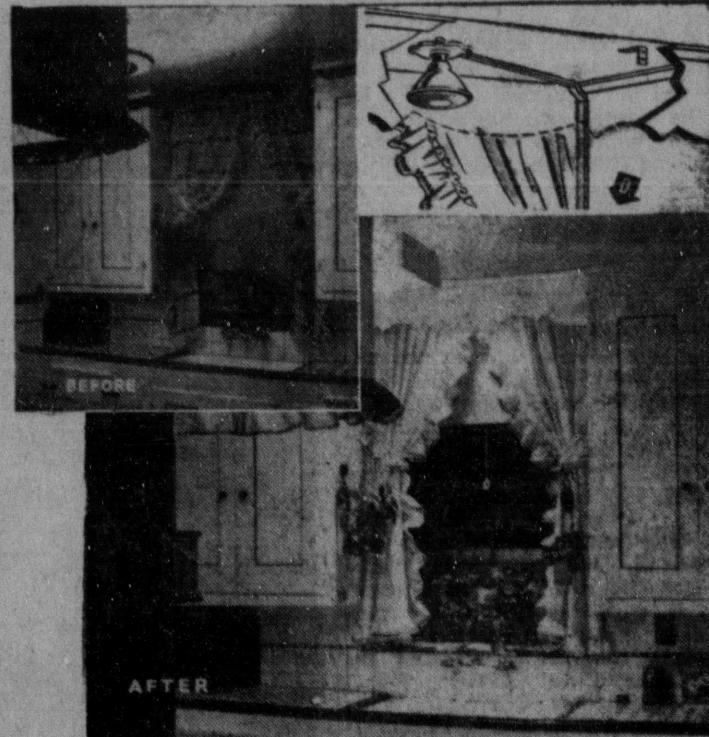

The basement windows should be closed in the morning and allowed to remain closed all during the day, being opened only at night when the sun is down.

TILEBOARDS DECORATIVE

To achieve a decorative effect while you are finishing and insulating the ceiling of your basement or attic recreation room, consider using rectangles of insulating board. These small panels come ready cut and, when installed, give the ceiling a tile-like appearance. They also possess sound-quieting qualities.

About 20,000,000 bushels of potatoes were used by the potato chip industry last season.

FOR BETTER — SAFER HOME LIGHTING

Dark, shadowy kitchens are not only depressing places in which to work but also tiring for the housewife who must strain to see while doing her kitchen tasks.

Even though you're not ready for a complete remodeling job in the kitchen, here's a practical suggestion from General Electric lighting specialists on how to brighten the sink area. Many a handy man will find that the installation is so simple that he can do it himself.

ing with screws. These inexpensive units (either pull chain or with a feed switch in the line) have their own cord which can be carried inconspicuously down the side of a cupboard to the nearest convenience outlet.

A decorative construction board valance hides the lamp from view and gives the cupboards a more unified appearance.

A quick glance at the before and after pictures above will show you how much more cheerful the whole kitchen seems once the sink is well lighted. Lighting specialists caution, however, that this flood lighting installation should not be used over sinks with aluminum or extremely shiny surfaces (except porcelain) because the highly concentrated light will give bothersome reflections.

Builders Get New Ideas

Leaders of the homebuilding industry in Miami, Fla, believe the economy housing program will not only produce a low-cost house, but will also bring about twentieth century methods in home building.

From the new processes, materials and ideas that evolved from the hundreds of experiments and innovations will come not a particular kind of house, or even several kinds of houses, but new methods of construction that are truly modern.

OBLIGATIONS ON PENSIONS QUESTIONED

Should Big Steel Discuss Pension Plans In Union Talks Is Key

PITTSBURGH, June 20—(AP)—Is "Big Steel" obligated to discuss pension in contract negotiations with the CIO-United Steelworkers?

On that question the conference between U. S. Steel Corp. and the union resumed yesterday.

The two factions yesterday made their stand on the issue very clear. The company said legally no. USW promptly answered morally and legally yes.

Here is the company's viewpoint as disclosed in a statement released after a three hour conference Thursday by John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice president in charge of industrial relations.

"The issue is solely whether a labor contract means what it says, or whether one party to such a contract can disregard its terms at will. Our labor contract with this union continues until April 30, 1950. These contracts are renewable at this time only with respect to rates of pay and insurance benefits. By the terms of these contracts they cannot be reopened to permit the union to make a pension demand."

Philip Murray, CIO and Steelworker president answered that one this way.

"It is incredible that this great corporation should quibble and engage itself and the conference with legal sophistry on this issue."

Murray further elaborated the union position at a news conference where he said, "We're opening the contract on wages and wages are pensions."

He said the corporation was "morally, legally and contractually obligated to bargain" with the union on pensions.

The union president disclosed the text of his argument presented the company on the pension issue. It contended that pensions "fall within the scope" of the contract clause which says wages and insurance may be reopened.

As the conference sat down for the current meeting's third session, both sides were well aware of the USW's contractual right to strike this year if no agreement is reached by July 16. That wasn't the case last year.

The entire industry anxiously watched this sparring over the pension issue. It is common knowledge that the settlement—or lack of one—will set the pattern for the entire industry. As usual, the negotiations for 1950 U. S. Steel employees should set the basis for some 835 other steel contracts covering more than 700,000 workers.

Same Snag Seen
The same pension snag was met in New York where Bethlehem Steel Co., opened contract talks with the USW. The company said no to pension discussions. Some 75,000 workers are involved.

Negotiations also began with Wheeling Steel Corp., at Wheeling, W. Va. A company spokesman W. Va. A company spokesman there said the initial meeting adjourned indefinitely. He said "no" conclusions were reached. It was disclosed that the USW asked a "substantial" pay boost from Crucible Steel Co. Crucible employs some 15,000 workers in plants from Wisconsin to New Jersey. But there too, Seward French, Jr., assistant to the president of the firm, said yesterday he told the union a pension plan could not be considered now.

Showboat To Extend East Liverpool Visit

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 20—The showboat Majestic, the last on the Ohio river, extended its visit here another week before turning around and heading downstream for the last leg of its three-month summer tour.

The boat with a cast of 25 Hiram college students stopped at dozens of Ohio and West Virginia river towns on its way up the Ohio and will play return engagements and stop at other communities en route back to Louisville, Ky., where the tour will close Oct. 1.

Paul Henderson, public relations agent for the showboat, said the nightly capacity attendance and a deluge of telegrams from district colleges and showboat fans of tri-state cities asking for time to see the performances persuaded Prof. Robert Pearce, head of the Hiram college project, to extend the stay here. The boat will leave June 26.

Bobby Feller Proves Experts Are Wrong Again

Makes 'Em Eat Their Words As He Wins Important 11 Inning Game From Yankees

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Feller is up to his old tricks again — engaging in his favorite pastime of making the baseball experts eat their words.

It was only a couple of days ago the experts predicted, for the umpteenth time, that the erstwhile great Cleveland pitcher was through — finished as a winning hurler. And as he did on all previous occasions, the 30-year-old righthander has proved them wrong.

He stilled them yesterday with a brilliant 11-inning pitching performance as the Indians defeated the New York Yankees, 4-2. Feller allowed six hits, only one in the last seven innings.

The Van Meter (1a.) fireballer, who won 122 games in five straight complete seasons for the Indians, reached the nadir of his pitching fortunes just eight days ago. On June 11, the Yankees handed him the most humiliating defeat of his career, shelling him from the mound in the first inning.

That was the signal for many of the scribes to start writing Feller's obituary. They were forced to hold up when Bob came back three days later to beat the Red Sox in Boston with a six-hit effort.

Feller's victory yesterday was a very important one for the fourth place Indians. It gave them the series from the league leaders—two games to one—and moved them up to within five and a half games from the top. They're now won seven of their last eight and trail the third place Philadelphia Athletics by only one game.

A home run with one on by First Baseman Mickey Vernon broke up the game in the 11th. Joe Page, who had replaced Starter Allie Reynolds in the seventh, was the loser. Tommy Henrich drove in one of the Yankee's two runs with his 13th homer, his third off Feller.

Vernon started at first base for the first time in six games. He was back at his old station, because Manager Lou Boudreau had returned to shortstop for the injured Ray Boone.

Spectacular fielding by outfielders of both teams highlighted the thriller. Three running catches by Dale Mitchell and another by Larry Doby saved the day for Feller along with a leaping catch by Bob Kennedy as Tommy Henrich's drive was about to drop in the right field seats.

Aided by homers by Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio, each with two mates aboard, the Boston Red Sox walloped the Chicago White Sox, 9-2, to sweep the four-game series.

Left-hander Chuck Stobbs allowed seven hits for his first major league victory.

The second place Detroit Tigers, behind the superb pitching of Virgil Trucks and Ted Hutchinson, shut out the Washington Senators in both ends of a doubleheader, 9-0 and 7-0, to cut New York's margin to three games.

Philadelphia and St. Louis divided a doubleheader, the Athletics winning the first game, 8-2, and the Browns taking the second, 7-3. Rookie Alex Kellner won his ninth game for the A's, scattering six hits.

Joe Ostrowski stopped the Mackmen with a seven-hitter in the nightcap.

Waitkus Improves, May Be Out Soon

CHICAGO, June 20 — (AP)—Philadelphia baseball player Eddie Waitkus continued to improve today and one of his doctors said he might leave the hospital in three weeks.

Waitkus was shot and wounded seriously last Wednesday by a 19-year-old brunette typist. The shooting occurred in the hotel room of Ruth Ann Steinhagen, who said she had a "crush" on the first baseman.

Illinois Masonic hospital attendants said the 28-year-old ball player's condition today is "good," adding that he spent "a pretty good night" last night.

Yesterday Dr. L. L. Braun, physician for the Chicago Cubs, said Waitkus might leave the hospital in three weeks.

The ball player was quoted Saturday as saying he will prosecute Miss Steinhagen when he leaves the hospital.

The slender, six-foot girl is in Cook county jail pending a hearing June 30 on a charge of assault with intent to murder. While in jail, she is writing her autobiography for a court psychiatrist.

Merchants Victors In Benefit Game

The Salem Merchants defeated the Lisbon Legion 5-4 in a Donna Saunders benefit game at the Centennial park diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Salem outfit made only six hits count for the margin as Lisbon whacked out seven hits but couldn't make them into payoffs.

Lisbon made two errors.

Sparring Mate Of Both Men, Says Charles Hits Hardest

MOMENCE, Ill., June 20 — (AP)—Who hits harder—Ezzard Charles or Jersey Joe Walcott?

If you take the word of Gene Jones, promising young Camden, N. J., heavyweight, who has sparred with both men, the answer is Charles.

Of course, there's a catch. Jones is currently employed by Charles' handlers to help him get ready for Wednesday night's N. B. A. sanctioned world heavyweight title bout at Chicago's Comiskey park.

Jones boxed with Walcott—a fellow townsman from Camden—when Jersey Joe was getting ready for Joey Maim at Los Angeles, June, 1947. He helped condition Joe for his December, 1947 fight with Joe Louis. He also boxed with him several times in the gym at home.

"You stand back and let Walcott do what he wants and he'll make you look silly," said Jones.

Walcott never hurt me but Charles did the first couple of days I was in camp," he continued. "Ezzy has a few tricks that are cute until you figure them out. He can hurt you before you find the answer. He punches harder than Walcott."

"I don't look for any knockout," Jones said.

Walcott ended the fight with a pre-fight boxing today. Walcott ended heavy work yesterday at the Peaceful Valley Country club.

The international boxing club reported a rising advance sale with great interest from fans in surrounding cities and villages. The gate may be surprisingly large for a bout that did not appear to have crowd appeal when it was first made. The promoters claim they have already taken in $250,000.

Charles, the 27-year-old Cincinnati boy, was to finish his pre-fight boxing today. Walcott ended heavy work yesterday at the Peaceful Valley Country club.

MIDDLECOFF TIES MANGRUM, SPLIT 1ST, 2ND MONEY

DETROIT's Motor City Open Ends In Odd Set-Up; 11 Holes End Even

DETROIT, June 20 — (AP)—Cary Middlecoff and Lloyd Mangrum, two of the nation's top pro golfers, headed homeward with $2,500 each today after playing all even in a unique sudden death tournament extra.

The two were tied at 273 at the end of the regulation 72 holes of the four-day Motor City competition yesterday.

Then they set out on the sudden death playoff that went 11 thrilling holes before it was called by mutual agreement with the two splitting the championship and the $2,600 and $1,900 first and second prize money.

Local golfing authorities said it was the first such overtime match in a PGA tournament here and the first time there had been co-champions in any PGA bigtime event.

Mangrum declared "this playoff takes the cake," and said he could not recall a similar finish.

The sudden death playoff idea was worked out by the tournament sponsors because Ben Hogan and E. J. Dutch Harrison tied in the regular 72-hole tournament play last year, and no one was anxious to hold an 18-hole like the one that gave Hogan last year's crown.

Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist who won the National open title at Chicago last week, fired a final round of 69—two under par—yesterday to get his 273 total.

Mangrum, the Niles, Ill., star had started his last regular round with a 54-hole total of 204—the same as Middlecoff's score.

Batting — Mickey Vernon, Indians—Slammed a home run with one on in the 11th inning to give the Indians a 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Charles Lindbergh's famed flight to Paris in 1927 took 33 hours and 39 minutes.

Jim Wingard, Curt Vaughan Take Weekend Golf Events

ment goes this week, matches must be played by Monday of next week.

Pro Andy Mocsary, who has been doing well in tournaments this season, is off today for the Elyria pro-pro twosome tourney. Pros are matched by draw and play the field.

Jim Wingard and Curt Vaughan, both experiencing fine games in the torrid weekend weather, won the Class A and B medal play, full handicap, tournament at the Salem Golf club.

Wingard, whose game has been hot all season, racked up a gross 75, just three over par, to wind up with a net of 64, including his 11 handicap.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The hot days are here, a good time to keep cool, but this country still will be excited over Communism for a while yet.

The trial of Alger Hiss, former State department official charged with perjury, goes into its fourth week Monday and will last another week or more.

Whittaker Chambers, one-time Communist by his own admission, said Hiss gave him secret State department papers when Chambers was working in Washington as a messenger in a Communist spy-ring.

And on Monday the trial of Judith Coplon, which has been going on for two months, will drag on a little longer, and will probably make some headlines before it is over. It's made plenty already.

MISS COPLON, charged with spying for Russia, is now on the stand and when her own lawyer, Archibald Palmer, gets through having her explain why she took FBI reports, the government prosecutors will tear into her.

Miss Coplon, 28 years old and 100 pounds in weight, says she collected secret government reports the way a novelist collects notes for a book, and for the same reason: She wanted to write a book. In New York the trial of 11 top Communist party officials, charged with teaching conspiracy to overthrow this government by force, will drone on, maybe until the end of July.

The 11 Communists have been sitting at their trial for months, and, in spite of their many wrangles with the judge, theirs has been a pretty dull trial so far.

There's no telling what the house un-American activities committee may do during the hot summer days. It's unpredictable. The committee—acting after receiving a petition from the Sons of the American Revolution—has asked a number of schools and colleges for a list of the textbooks they're using.

THAT BROUGHT A ROAR from educators and editorial writers worried about academic freedom.

The SAR charges in its petition that a number of educators—either because they're misguided or contemptuous of the American capitalist system—have put stuff in textbooks that will slant students' minds towards Socialism and Communism.

The SAR doesn't make much distinction between Socialism and Communism and wants the committee to examine the books for evidence of either.

At this point the committee has asked for the lists of books. It will decide later whether to have an investigation.

The Paris conference between Secretary of State Acheson and the foreign ministers of Russia, Britain and France doesn't seem to be getting anywhere and probably will break up on that note. For some time after that break-up there's likely to be quite a bit of news on relations between this country and Russia.

So, all in all, it looks like the weather will be warm for a while.

"The Way of a Field Champion", a dog movie, will be shown at the next meeting of the Columbiana County Kennel club set for 7 p. m. Wednesday at the Lape hotel. Mrs. A. H. Vaughn, 989 Highland ave., is in charge of reservations.

Plans for the club's dog show, to be held on August 21 in East Liverpool, will be discussed at the meeting.

Three Lisbon Youths Attend Boys State

LISBON, June 20—Three Lisbon youths, Dick Cornelli, James Ketchum and John Ebert, left Saturday for Buckeye Boys State at Ohio Wesleyan university, where they will spend ten days in the mythical government setup. They were sponsored by John Welsh Post, American Legion, the Kiwanis and Eagles.

The Bureau of Reclamation's first major storage dam was the Roosevelt, on the Salt river in Arizona, which was dedicated in 1911.

SMILING HAPPILY, comedian Milton Berle and his new—and former—wife Joyce Matthews step from car for wedding luncheon after their marriage in New York. They were first married in 1941, then divorced in 1947. The word "obey" was dropped in the retake. (International)

Clear Glass - Safety Factor In Driving

You're deliberately obstructing your vision when you continue to drive around in a car that has broken, cracked or fogged glass. Drive in here and let our experts skillfully and speedily replace that glass. It's a safety factor in driving that you should never overlook. Our prices are modest.

Union Voted In

EAST PALESTINE, June 20—Employees of the Kenmar Manufacturing Co., furniture plant voted to affiliate with the United Construction Workers union in an NLRB-sponsored bargaining agency election Friday.

Non-union previously, the workers voted 117-73 to join the United Mine Workers affiliate. The union will elect officers Monday night, leaders said.

In 1948, the average American ate 145 pounds of meat.

Who'll be First with the Last Word?

White exterior tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost

ACT QUICKLY—and in your neighborhood it might be you.

For there's no doubt that this exciting new Riviera model—styled and executed by Buick—is the very last word in new body types.

It has, as you see, the swift and racy lines of a Convertible, made even more distinctive by a bold new sweep of chromium along its fenders.

But the top is solid—a single sheet of stout steel, neatly finished off inside with chromium bows. And a broad rear window curves gracefully around, giving really abundant rearward vision.

Push-button controls drop all windows out of sight at a touch, leaving not even a doorpost to block your outlook. And the interior trim is the richest yet—a really stunning creation inside as well as out.

As pictured here the Riviera is now in production on the Buick ROADMASTER chassis—which means 150-hp Fireball power, the silken luxury of Dynaflo Drive, and the matchless levelness of the Buick "dream ride." That means "the last word" in brilliant performance as well as in luxurious dress and styling.

Production on this high-styled road star is limited, as you might expect.

To be "first with the last word," therefore, it is wise to see your Buick dealer soon about getting your order in.
